Dear students and staff,

I would like to thank you all for your efforts to transition to online learning. I know it's been a challenge for all of you to get accustomed to the changes and the technology we've implemented to pull this off, but you have done so in the most professional manner. Obstacles like this test us and reveal true character and yours is shining bright!

We here at HCI have always known that our programs and our graduates help serve a greatly needed purpose in our community, but it is in times like these and hearing the stories of our graduates making a direct impact in saving lives that help reaffirm our mission. This make us even more excited and motivated to help you transform your story. Let us all stay strong together and work hard every day to stay focused on the goals we set out to achieve.

If you have any questions, please reach out to us so we can help. Thank you again for your continued support and hard work.

Sincerely,

Zac

Dear Students and HCI College Community,

As you all understand, we have been in a transition period with moving our didactic course offerings from being on-ground to online. With the global pandemic of the novel coronavirus, we have been working diligently to ensure that your educational experience is not impacted. We have opted to do this for an array of reasons, but the main reason is for the health and safety of our students, staff, faculty and their families. The obstacles we have overcome in such a short amount of time has made what appeared to be impossible possible. Your effort and commitment to your academic studies and achievement has not gone unnoticed.

I am extremely impressed with your ability to adapt to the online courses in our Learning Management System (LMS) platform, acclimating to the new style of learning, and with your positive classroom participation. We have witnessed an exceptional amount of student participation in all of our classes. The enthusiasm and engagement you all have exhibited has been astounding. In the career professions, you are learning it requires tenacity, determination, flexibility and always knowing that what you as an individual contributes to the greater good. As you can see, it really does make a difference!

HCI has always known that our programs and our graduates help serve a needed purpose in our communities. It helps reaffirm our mission when our graduates are making a direct impact in saving lives. This makes us even more excited and motivated to help students transform their story. Let us all stay strong together and work hard every day to stay focused on the goals we set out to achieve. Thank you for your continued support and hard work!

With your success in mind,

President Shelpman
